2025 MSK

Pulmo-Oncology Symposium

September 19, 2025 | New York City & Virtually

Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center

Overview

Pulmo-oncology is an emerging discipline at the intersection of pulmonary medicine and oncology, playing a critical role in the clinical care of patients with cancer.

The respiratory system is often impacted by direct cancer involvement and toxicities stemming from the use of antineoplastic agents. Pre-existing pulmonary disorders affect patient outcomes and management decisions. Effective clinical management of pulmonary complications of cancer and its therapies requires an interdisciplinary approach.

Now in its third year, this symposium at Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center (MSK) brings together global experts from multiple disciplines to present the latest advances in cancer therapies and best practices in the evaluation and management of lung disease. Through state-of-the-art presentations and interdisciplinary, case-based discussions, this symposium will explore key topics related to the care of cancer patients with pulmonary comorbidities and complications arising from cancer or its treatments.

Key topics for this year's program include:

- · State-of-the-art updates in lung cancer treatment
- Navigating immune-mediated lung toxicities related to cancer therapy
- Clinical strategies for prevention, symptom management, and co-existing conditions

Complex cases will be presented throughout, with dedicated time for interactive, multidisciplinary panel discussions to encourage meaningful engagement between participants and the faculty.

Target Audience

This symposium is intended for healthcare professionals in pulmonology, hematology/oncology, and related disciplines involved in the care of cancer patients or those with a special interest in this area.

Educational Objectives

- Describe the role of the pulmonologist in diagnosis and management of cancer related pulmonary complications
- Identify state of the art diagnostic and treatment strategies for management of lung cancer
- Implement strategies for diagnosis and management of non-infectious pulmonary complications of stem cell transplant and other cancer directed therapies
- · Discuss multidisciplinary approach in complex patients
- Implement approaches to symptom management and prevention of cancer related pulmonary complications
- Gain insight in sleep disordered breathing in the cancer patient

Post-Symposium Resources

Registrants will receive access to a syllabus containing PDF versions of faculty presentation slides and recorded session videos after the symposium concludes.

Symposium Location

Zuckerman Research Center 417 East 68th Street New York City

Virtual participation will be offered through Zoom.

Accreditation

Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

AMA Credit Designation Statement

Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center designates this live activity for a maximum of 7.50 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

MOC/CC Recognition Statements

Successful completion of this CME activity, which includes participation in the evaluation component, enables the participant to earn up to:

- 7.50 Medical Knowledge MOC points in the American Board of Internal Medicine's (ABIM) Maintenance of Certification (MOC) program; and
- 7.50 credit toward the CME and Self-Assessment of the American Board of Thoracic Surgery's (ABTS) Maintenance of Certification program.

It is the CME activity provider's responsibility to submit participant completion information to ACCME for the purpose of granting ABIM or ABTS MOC/CC credit.

An application for ANCC Nursing Contact Hours is currently under review.
