Advances in the Management of Prostate Cancer: A Multidisciplinary Approach

October 18–20, 2017

Course Overview

The aim of the two-day program, presented by faculty from Memorial Sloan Kettering (MSK) and invited speakers, is to highlight new developments in the interdisciplinary management of prostate cancer, and to provide useful insights into ongoing cancer research in the field, and at MSK.

Target Audience

The intended audience includes members of the Memorial Hospital Alumni Society (physicians who have trained at MSK for six months or more, and staff members who have been at MSK for six months or more), current medical staff, and physicians trained elsewhere who wish to attend. The conference will be of particular interest to urologists, uro-oncologists, medical oncologists, pathologists, radiation oncologists, radiologists, cancer surgeons, and allied scientists.
