OVERVIEW

This course will offer a unique combination of multidisciplinary management of complex skin cancers with an update on clinically relevant issues in pathology. Novel diagnostic methods and updates in tumor classification will be emphasized. Melanoma and other complex skin malignancies will be presented and discussed in a tumor board style with a panel of experts from dermatology, head and neck surgery, medical, surgical, and ophthalmic oncology, pathology, and radiation oncology.

Target Audience

The target audience includes physicians and allied health professionals, who care for patients with skin cancer, including dermatologists, surgical and medical oncologists, otolaryngologists, ophthalmologists, general surgeons, plastic surgeons, pathologists and radiation oncologists.

Learning Objectives

- Describe melanoma and non melanoma skin cancer incidence and staging systems
- Assess role of ancillary tests for melanoma diagnosis and prognosis
- Review recent updates in WHO classification of melanocytic tumors
- Define characteristics of skin cancers that require multidisciplinary treatment
- Review novel approaches to optimize surgical treatment of skin cancers
- Assess role and variety of radiotherapeutic approaches to complex skin cancer
- Review role of biological therapy in the treatment of advanced skin cancer
