Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center presents the

9TH ANNUAL
GLOBAL CONFERENCE ON
Perioperative Care of the Cancer Patient

In collaboration with the 74th Post Graduate Assembly in Anesthesiology

DECEMBER 10-11, 2020 • NEW YORK CITY

Zuckerman Research Center
Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center
417 East 68th Street

LIVE SIMULCAST AVAILABLE
Overview
This international meeting is the work of leading anesthesiologists from several cancer centers of excellence worldwide. The multispecialty international consortium will address the clinical and translational evidence emerging in perioperative cancer care. The conference is designed to address the complexity and unique challenges for the perioperative care of the cancer patient and cancer survivors.

As the incidence of cancer and cancer survivorship grows, there is an increased need for anesthesiologists, surgeons, interventional radiologists, nurses and other perioperative health care professionals to provide their services for the multiple diagnostic and interventional procedures in this patient population. This conference will focus on the key elements related to perioperative care of the cancer patient needed to deliver value-based patient centric care.

This one-and-a-half-day conference will consist of scientific panels, lectures and small group discussions and the opportunity to network with leading international onco-anesthesiologists, surgeons and scientists.

Educational Objectives
By attending this course, attendees will:
• Understand the global impact of cancer
• Identify aspects of perioperative care to lead to improved care and outcomes
• Implement a strategy to deliver patient centric value based perioperative care
• Learn the latest advances in cancer therapy and the implications for the perioperative period
• Learn about the challenges of caring for the chronic pain patient

Target Audience
The course is intended for anesthesiologists, surgeons, medical oncologists, internists, basic scientists, CRNAs, perioperative nurses and allied health professionals. The course will also be geared towards scientists involved in translational and clinical research.

Live Simulcast Available
Unable to attend this course in person? We are pleased to offer a live simulcast option for this course. CME credit is offered for the live simulcast and active participation is required throughout the course. We do hope you will attend in person but understand that can sometimes be a challenge so we are happy to offer the live simulcast as an option. Registration for the simulcast is required.
