Thoracic Pathology NYC2021

Live Virtual Course

Register at: www.mskcc.org/thoracicpathology2021

Course Description

This two day live virtual course conducted via Zoom is designed to give a current review of thoracic pathology with clinical and radiologic correlations. The course will run for two days and will consist of a series of presentations with a multidisciplinary session regarding interstitial lung disease. The new 2021 WHO Classification of Lung Tumors and Guidelines for the Diagnosis of Interstitial Lung Diseases will be presented. Most of the speakers will be expert lung pathologists, but there will also be clinical and radiologic presentations by well-known thoracic clinicians and radiologists for the interstitial lung disease topic. The presentations will illustrate the importance of a multidisciplinary approach to solving difficult problems in thoracic disease.

This is a live virtual course conducted from New York City with no in-person events.

Course Objectives

By the course's end, participants should:

- Have a grasp of current concepts in lung, pleural and mediastinal pathology.
- Understand the importance of correlation between clinical, radiologic and pathologic data in diagnosis and management of interstitial lung disease.
- Know the significance of lung biopsy and multidisciplinary correlation for the diagnosis of non-neoplastic lung disease with a focus on interstitial pneumonias.
- Comprehend the most recent histologic concepts in lung cancer diagnosis and classification.
- Realize the important issues in molecular targeted therapy for lung adenocarcinoma.
- Have a practical understanding of differential diagnosis for mediastinal and pleural lesions.
- Understand the usefulness of cytology in pulmonary, pleural and mediastinal diagnoses.
