6TH ANNUAL STATE-OF-THE-ART IN THROMBOSIS & HEMOSTASIS

This course is designed to provide an important annual educational forum for Hematology & Oncology doctors. The ultimate objective of this activity is to enhance physician understanding of the disease state and treatment advances for the benefit of patients.

EDUCATIONAL OBJECTIVES

- Recognize the clinical manifestations and understand the state of the art of management of different thrombocytopenia syndromes.
- Understand the mechanisms of action and how to use the new Direct Oral Anticoagulants to maximize safety and efficacy.
- When a patient presents with a life-threatening hemorrhage, how does one proceed in assessment and management.
- Understand the range of hereditary and acquired thrombophilia disorders. What is the role of testing and what does one do with the results?
- What is the complex interaction of the platelets and cancer? How does the platelet promote cancer growth?

TARGET AUDIENCE

This course is directed toward Hematology Oncology doctors in practice for a yearly update on thrombosis and hemostasis as well as fellows in training programs.

CAREER FAIR

There will be a career fair during this symposium from 11am-2pm for participants, featuring recruiting agencies and local hospitals recruiters. Participants are encouraged to bring their CV.
